

Workshop 14: ‘SCOOPing’ your next job

The focus of this workshop is to focus on having students specify the characteristics of their ideal next job, and developing a strategy of moving in that direction. This includes jointly finding concrete examples of such jobs, vacancies, university settings or organisations where this might be possible, and considering whom within the SCOOP consortium and its network connections might know more about this.

Workshop 15: Intervision

In this workshop, students share joint experiences and learning points, develop a strategy for next career step, and specify the next thing to do to realize this strategy. Students select their SCOOP role model, and plan a conversation with them to test their strategy and ask remaining questions.
